A photograph of a courtyard with a wooden bench, large potted plants, and arched doorways. The courtyard is paved with light-colored stone tiles. In the center, there is a wooden bench with a green and white striped cushion. To the left and right of the bench are large, light-colored ceramic pots containing tall, leafy plants. In the background, there are three arched doorways. The middle archway has a black lantern hanging above it. A staircase is visible through the right archway. A black metal railing is visible on the upper level of the courtyard. The walls are a light, warm color. The overall atmosphere is warm and inviting.

Modernes Riad an zentraler Lage mit herzlicher Gastfreundschaft.

The collage consists of 12 individual photographs arranged in a 4x3 grid, each showcasing a different outdoor furniture arrangement in a warm, Mediterranean-style setting. The common elements across the images include light-colored stucco walls, terracotta floors, and large, rustic planters. The furniture pieces are primarily in neutral tones (beige, cream, brown) with some greenery accents.
